

The IR Survey

Written by Daryl Morini

This PDF is auto-generated for reference only. As such, it may contain some conversion errors and/or missing information. For all formal use please refer to the official version on the website, as linked below.

The IR Survey

<https://www.e-ir.info/2013/05/21/the-ir-survey/>

DARYL MORINI, MAY 21 2013

Dear students, teachers and IR wonks,

The International Relations survey is open! This is the only student-focussed, international survey of the discipline, which takes stock of the state of IR pedagogy and students' experiences. I invite all IR students reading this to take a few minutes to complete the survey, and IR lecturers to share it with their students. This survey is designed to give us an original, bottom-up snapshot of the discipline.

The IR survey was kindly endorsed by Professor Robert Kelly on Duck of Minerva. I would be eternally grateful if you could take the survey, send it to your colleagues, professors, post on it Twitter, Facebook, etc. Since this project is not funded by any institution, my co-researcher, Christian, and I would appreciate any support you can give us!

I wish I could thank each and every one of you by inviting you to coffee, to talk about your experiences of the IR degree in person. But, since that may be logistically challenging – and financially ruinous – we will at least thank you in our survey write-up!

Take the IR survey here: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/theIRsurvey>

—

Daryl Morini is editor-at-large at e-IR and co-creator of this survey, alongside Christian Romuss.

About the author:

Daryl Morini is an editor-at-large of E-IR. He is pursuing a PhD in preventive diplomacy at the University of Queensland, Australia. Follow him on Twitter @DarylMorini